

DON'T BE A FAWN-NAPPER!

FAST FAWN FACTS

- It's normal for fawns to be alone during the day.
- Young fawns aren't strong enough to keep up with their mom.
- Mom will stay away to avoid attracting predators.
- Mom returns at dawn and dusk to feed their fawns.

FOUND A FAWN CHECKLIST

Is the fawn...

- crying or vocalizing?
- showing signs of injury or illness (diarrhea, vomiting, etc.)?
- approaching people without fear?
- showing signs of being cold?
- in danger of being injured by a dog or cat?
- in danger due proximity to a road?

If YES TO ANY: keep it warm, dark, and quiet and deliver to the nearest licensed wildlife rehabilitation group.

If NO: LEAVE THAT FAWN ALONE!
